

About DJR Marketing Solutions Ltd

At DJR Marketing - one of the UK's leading business to business telemarketing companies - we pride ourselves on our friendly, open approach. We ensure that we are persistent but friendly and professional during all telesales / market research calls. What's more, we guarantee you an outcome from every campaign.

We specialise in working with companies with short sales cycles and together we create a telemarketing team that best suits your business and your products/services. All our telemarketing teams are located at our head office in the UK and are skilled, articulate professionals who enjoy working in a call centre environment.

We'll always align you with a team that's right for you and the type of people you are delivering to. You'll build a relationship with the team, as the aim is to provide you with an ancillary member of staff – your very own outsourced telemarketing staff.

Telemarketing is traditionally a high-pressure job, so we look after our telemarketing teams. The result is a low staff turnover with happy, valued staff who have a work-life balance that suits them. We offer full on-the-job training, career advancement, flexible working hours and incentives.
